

Coproducing Improvement in Community

In this workshop, we evaluate and explore how to support deep participation by everyone affected by a system, particularly communities often denied a seat at the design and decision making table.

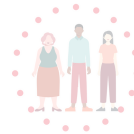

What you'll learn?

Why partnering with the people most impacted by the systems we seek to improve is critical to improvement efforts aimed at increasing equity in education.

How to assess where your team or organization is regarding partnership with the people most impacted by the system you are working to improve.

How to generate short and long terms strategies to deepen partnerships based on tools, resources, coaching provided at the workshop and peer-to-peer exchange.

Where to access resources that can be used to support teams in strengthening partnerships across your system following this workshop.

Upcoming course dates and registration can be found in the Online Learning section of the Shift website.

www.shift-results.com/onlinelearning

For more information or to learn about custom offerings, please contact hello@shift-results.com.

Experts in the art and science of improvement.
Advocates for equity and inclusion.